DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Herman Coates, treasurer of the Good Year Mills, Inc., left here Wednesday evening for New York to attend a meeting at which the re-financing of the Good Year industry will be discussed. This meeting is one preliminary to the stockholders' meeting scheduled to be held in Akron on March 4, when the re-financing plan as worked out will be up for approval.

The Kennedy corporation is showing some very marked reductions in prices of lumber and building materials—adv. Teams representing the commercial department of Killbuck High School will go to Putnam this evening to participate in the typewriting contest between Killbuck, Putnam and Tourtelotte. High schools to take place in the auditorium of Putnam High school.

Howard F. Pfrommer, whose name and ownership record is familiar to all typists, will give a public demonstration as a part of the program of the evening. Mr. Pfrommer's record in the 1920 international contest was 115 words per minute.

A topic of general interest to all business men and women will be given consideration in an address that is to be made by a Mr. McManis, the Boston manager for a well known publishing company.

All stenographers and typists of the town are especially invited to attend and it is expected that there will be a considerable delegation from Danielson. Special sale of champagne, home, to come down, Saturday, Star Bakery, George Henshaw—adv.

While preparing dinner at her home in Wauregan, Tuesday, Mrs. Corinne Pettigrew, 58, suffered an attack of heart disease and died within a few minutes. Mrs. Pettigrew was a native of Canada. She leaves her husband, Paul, and five children.

Funeral services for Byron Chase were held at the undertaking rooms of L. E. Kennedy, Tuesday, at 10 o'clock. Rev. Walter B. Williams of the Westfield Congregational church officiating. Burial was in the Chase family cemetery at East Killbuck. Relatives acted as bearers.

A funeral service was conducted by Rev. Albert J. Brown of St. Alban's church at the undertaking rooms of L. E. Kennedy, for Alexander Burdick, who died at the home of his son, Benjamin Burdick in the Mashamack district, Tuesday, at 10 o'clock. The bearers were Everett Hall, Charles Young, George Phillips and George Molah.

Temperature that ran up above 53 degrees Wednesday served to start the streams of water running from melting accumulations of ice and snow all through this territory. The weather was a real reminder of the approach of spring and seemed to have an enlivening effect on business as well as upon the spirits of the people.

Another series of games in the Bohemian club is scheduled for this evening. The approach of the end of the tournament finds the members more interested than ever in the outcome. Buffet lunches are being served, and every Tuesday evening in connection with the holding of the tournament, in which scores of members are engaged.

Credits are being tightened up in some lines, especially by grocers in the immediate vicinity. A complaining feature, however, is the increasing payrolls as the result of the resumption of activity by manufacturing plants. Excepting at some special points the situation is not at all critical. The town is giving aid to numerous needy families and probably will have to continue to do so for some time to come.

Though they are not given to talking about it very much, not a few residents of Danielson and vicinity have taken to gun toting. They may be prepared to protect themselves in case of being subjected to a holdup, as recently has been the experience of numerous persons in various parts of the country. Some have taken permits to carry the gun, while others are just carrying guns. Some motorists seem especially to fear highwaymen, which are all too numerous this winter.

Danielson drivers of automobiles are sending in applications, and the essential for it is renewal of the operator's license. All of these licenses expire on February 23, a week from next Monday.

The recent muddy season is bringing a renewal of the oft-made suggestion that it would be wise if the section known as Depot square could be permanently paved with asphalt or cement. The area around the Exchange block and the Danielson Trust company building past the railroad station and back to Main street is not large. Citizens who favor making such an improvement feel that it would add vastly to the appearance of their part of the business section and give strangers coming into town a good impression of the place, which mud does not.

One hears of many experiments tried these days by men who will have a drink that intoxicates ever if it costs them their health. The latest authentic story is relative to a man deprived of Jamaica ginger. He reported to 8—home insurance company a turn of fortune and being out by making a paste of ginger, which he ate, evidently believing that the ginger contained alcohol. He's still living, through the efforts of his wife and some kindly neighbors who came to her assistance.

If purchases that have been made be taken as an indication of the forthcoming supply, there will be a scarcity of seed potatoes in the territory surrounding Danielson during the coming planting season. Several carloads have been purchased and are due to arrive here in the near future.

Miss Elizabeth Dunn, of the commercial department of the S. N. E. T. company in the Danielson office, has been assisting at the Putnam office for a few days.

There is to be a special Lenten service at St. Alban's church this (Thursday) evening.

Lectures for local people who are spending the winter in Florida tell of their interest in reading of the mild winter weather being experienced in Connecticut.

George A. Williams is engaged in collecting the personal taxes in Killbuck and these are now due and payable. Collector Williams has covered a large part of the territory.

A simplified method is here given for the quick removal of hairy or fuzzy growths and rarely is more than one treatment required. PUTNAM

Why go west for excitement? If you want to be held up, shot at, kidnaped in a wild race between automobiles, or experience any of the other thrills that go with adventures such as used to be common in the wild and woolly western reaches of the continent, get out your sliver put a case of booze aboard and take a run over to where the boundaries of Connecticut and Rhode Island touch, just a half dozen miles east of this city. Any evening will do for the experiment.

A booze runner who flashed through this city just before 9 o'clock Tuesday evening had a regular Bill Hart "ride" within twenty minutes after he left Putnam, according to information that came into possession of Captain J. H. Bulger of the local police. Wednesday morning, Bulger and his men tried to get his load of liquor, which somehow slipped through the lines of the ever-watchful Willimantic police, and gave him a real sensational few minutes before he managed to elude them by racing his car up to Everett Cutler's store at Gloucester and gasped out his usual for help.

He was right smart skinned, considering how the men that wanted his liquor were put after him in their automobile when he refused to obey their summons to halt and pumped lead in the general direction of his car's tail light as he slipped along at top speed. Some of the bullets hit the car, but the driver went flat, but he reached the life saving station at Cutler's store before they could get him, this causing them to turn tail and beat a hasty retreat toward Putnam.

From what Captain Bulger was able to learn about the case from Mr. Cutler it would appear that the hold-up men had a line on the booze runner, who is said to use the route from Hartford through Putnam to Providence regularly. Bulger said that he was sure they knew his car and what it was going to contain. It seems that they just waited around until the booze runner car, carrying a Rhode Island registry, drove in sight and then went after it. The driver, and gave him the time of his life.

It might seem strange to the average person that a booze runner should want the police to help him out, but this one did, and telephoned the Providence police to have officers sent out to hunt the highwaymen.

The police did come out, but did not arrive until nearly midnight. Captain Bulger said that he was sure they knew his car and what it was going to contain. It seems that they just waited around until the booze runner car, carrying a Rhode Island registry, drove in sight and then went after it. The driver, and gave him the time of his life.

The car that was engaged in running the "booze" was a Chalmers. The start of the attempted holdup was very close to the Rhode Island border, probably on the Connecticut side of the line, but the chase took the machines over into Rhode Island.

As recommended by the common council, the budget of the city of Putnam for the present fiscal year amounts to $53,559, an increase of $7,450 over the amount appropriated last year. One-half of the additional amount appropriated is to meet deficits that have been accumulated in different city departments in the past two or three years.

The tax rate recommended is 18 mills, an increase of 1/2 mill over last year, and the usual 2 mill for the sewer interest and to liquidate the sewer indebtedness.

This year's grand list totals $5,325,980 and is about $400,000 greater than last year. This increase in the grand list will produce sufficient additional revenue through taxation to meet about one-half the additional appropriations recommended.

Through a committee of the chamber of commerce the attention of the council was called to the matter of regulating the activities of itinerant vendors who have been flocking into this city of late to the injury of the business of local tradesmen. The recommendation is for a resolution making it unlawful to be practically prohibitive. This matter was referred to the council's committee on rules and ordinances.

Alderman George L. Padgett offered a resolution lauding the work of Alderman John G. Johnson, who is retiring after seven years of splendidly efficient service as chairman of the highway committee of the common council. Mr. Johnson's work on the highway committee in connection with street and sewer work would aggregate many weeks of patient and painstaking toil. The benefit of his experience and good judgment in carrying out the work of the committee is appreciated generally. Inspired Mr. Padgett to have written into the records of the council a grateful acknowledgment and recognition of the public service that Mr. Johnson rendered.

The police committee read to the meeting of the council a report by Captain J. H. Bulger of the police department against Patrolman Chandler, charging inefficiency and insubordination. The report cites a number of instances in which Patrolman Chandler was detected in his duties as an officer. The report was referred to the police committee and Patrolman Chandler will be given a hearing.

Next Monday evening, in Engle's hall, citizens of Putnam will have an opportunity to hear Dr. Conde Benoit, D.D., in his remarkable lecture, "Carrying On." Dr. Benoit comes here to speak at this public meeting under the auspices of Carrell Council No. 54, K. of C.

Since 1885 Dr. Benoit has been a well known figure in the lecture field of literary, philosophical and economic subjects. He is the author of a number of well known books including "The Philosophy of Literature," "The Speech of Literature," and "What is Liberalism?"

A section of seats will be reserved for former service men. The open forum will prevail at this public lecture and Dr. Benoit will be glad to answer questions that may be asked.

Members of the fire department who had such an enjoyable time at a banquet at the Putnam Inn recently, will have another banquet at the Putnam Inn, the central fire station, on the evening of Washington's birthday.

The carnival given at the Westfield Congregational church attracted a large attendance. Various special features of the occasion provided much pleasure. The affair was arranged by the Ladies' Benevolent society.

It was stated here Wednesday that a branch of the national organization opposed to prohibition is to be organized in Danielson and that it is expected that upwards of 1,000 members will be obtained.

It is said that if the moderate endorsement legislation provided for pending bills having to do with transportation that there is a likelihood of service being rendered on the line between Danielson and East Killbuck, abandoned as to service in October.

An erroneous report that the sedan of Rev. Charles E. Bedford had been stolen during the night, gained a circulation throughout the city Wednesday morning. The report started over the fact that the car was taken from its usual place in the garage Tuesday evening to make space for the arrival of a visiting priest, who assisted at the Lenten service.

Mr. Wolf became ill while in Boston on business Monday and was hurried to a hospital and operated upon. He has been a sufferer with appendicitis for some time and had been planned to be operated upon the sudden and acute attack hurrying along the case.

When his sled plunged off a bank wall and into a rubbish heap near his home on Pleasant street, Wednesday morning, Charles T. Thayer was quite seriously injured on the right side of his face, but not seriously hurt. He was attended by a physician.

The temperature ran up to 54 degrees in the sun in Putnam during the early hours of Wednesday afternoon, bringing to many minds the first of the impressions that spring is not far away.
